Welcome to the 27th Nordic Film Market

Dear Nordic Film Market delegates,

We are delighted to welcome you to the Göteborg Film Festival's 27th Nordic Film Market, taking place January 28–30, 2026.

This year's programme spotlights more than 70 upcoming projects, bringing together new voices and established talent from across the Nordics and beyond. Every year, we set out to spotlight films with bold artistic vision and commercial potential. Alongside our Nordic lineup, we also present a curated international selection, opening new paths for collaboration.

In 2026, a record 700 delegates from 35 countries will gather in Göteborg, including buyers, distributors, sales agents, producers, festival programmers, fund representatives, and other key industry professionals.

A major highlight of the 2026 edition is the expanded insight programme, addressing key industry issues while spotlighting visionary perspectives and the near future of the industry. On Wednesday afternoon, the market will intersect with the TV Drama Vision conference programme for a shared session under the headline Wonderful Things That Work – focusing on projects and visions that continue to succeed creatively, structurally, and financially. The afternoon concludes with a moderated on-stage conversation with award-winning producer and writer James Schamus.

This year, Germany is the Official Country in Focus at the Nordic Film Market and TV Drama Vision. The spotlight brings a vibrant lineup of more than 60 German producers, funds, and key decision-makers to Göteborg. This year, the Nordic Film Market also returns in a renewed format, with Hotel Draken serving as the main market venue – creating one central hub for the industry to meet, share insights, and do business.

We hope it will be an inspiring, insightful, and productive experience for you all.

With warm regards,

Josef

Josef Kullengård

Wonderful Things That Work

Venue: Cinema Draken

In a tough market, some projects still succeed – creatively, structurally, and financially. What makes this possible? How do creators, producers, and institutions navigate the shifting terrain and still deliver success, both artistically and in the market? What key ingredients are needed to build a brighter future for the next generation?

Part I: Creative Conversation

What does it take to sustain your creative voice today? Filmmakers Isabella Eklöf, Milad Alami, and Benedikt Erlingsson, come together for a conversation on directing, writing and artistic integrity and the challenges of working in a changing industry. Moderated by Andrea Reuter.

Part II: Industry Conversation

Why do some series and films find large, and sometimes unexpected, audiences? A conversation exploring creative courage, innovation, and the paths to success in a shrinking market.

Anna Croneman (CEO, Swedish Film Institute), Henning Kamm (Executive Producer / Managing Director, REAL FILM, Unorthodox and KRANK: Berlin), Jimm Garbis (Producer, SF Studios, Co-Owner, Gambio Film) and Peter Carlton (Co-Owner / Senior Executive Producer, Warp Films, Adolescence and This is England). Moderated by Johanna Koljonen.

Part III: Nostradamus Closing Keynote

Johanna Koljonen, media analyst and Nostradamus report author, concludes TV Drama Vision with a keynote reflecting on, and challenging, the current audiovisual landscape.

Wonderful Things That Work is co-presented by Nostradamus partner German Films. The Swedish Institute is a contributing partner to the session.

Moderated by Jonas Pedersen Hardebrant, the 30-minute session explores the manifesto, the momentum, and what's next as the first Dogma 25 films emerge.

A New Europe Must Emerge: Rethinking Power, People, and Pipelines

Venue: Drama Hall, Hotel Draken

In her 2025 State of the Union Address, European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen declared that “a new Europe must emerge” – but what does this mean for European cinema at a time when the industry faces unprecedented disruption from streaming platforms, technological transformation, budget cuts, and evolving routes to market?

ARTEF's 2025 report “A New Europe Must Emerge” brings together findings from four think tanks held throughout the year. Conceived along the film value chain, these think tanks gathered professionals, creatives, scholars, and policymakers to collaboratively reflect on how we can make development, funding, marketing, and circulation of European cinema more equitable. ARTEF's work provides a timely, critical lens on the systemic barriers and opportunities facing filmmakers, institutions and audiences.

Conversation with Victoria Thomas and Dr Regina Mosch from the Anti-Racism Taskforce for European Film (ARTEF), moderated by media analyst and Nos-tradamus report author Johanna Koljonen.

Agnes Against the World

Agnes mot Verden

Agnes isn't doing too badly, all things considered. She has a steady supply of amphetamines, lives idyllically in the woods with her buddy Hansi, and supplement their welfare benefits by selling moonshine like true entrepreneurs. Then an unexpected hospital visit brings life-altering news. Agnes decides she must go on the straight and narrow in the hopes to reunite with her daughter. Agnes against the world is a warm, gritty, and sometimes funny love letter to Oslo's unseen edges.

David Berget is a director and editor working across narrative and commercial worlds, drawn to stories at the margins. His films have screened internationally at festivals including the Festival de Cannes, New York International Film Festival, and Nordisk Panorama.

Agnes against the world marks his feature debut, which he also co-wrote and edited. In 2011, he attended the American Film Institute in Los Angeles as one of its youngest selected directors.

In a Palestinian village inside “Israel,” two sisters-in-law, Nabila and Shams, are bound by an exchange marriage. When one becomes a widow, forbidden desires surface, tensions rise, and their land is threatened by occupation. As the men disappear, the women must confront betrayal, power, and survival on their own terms.

Suha Arraf is a Palestinian filmmaker, screenwriter, and producer celebrated for her bold, character-driven storytelling. She began her career writing the award-winning films The Syrian Bride and Lemon Tree, both acclaimed at major international festivals. Arraf’s work explores identity, tradition, and resistance through complex female characters, establishing her as a leading voice in contemporary Palestinian and Arab independent cinema.

After being acquitted at court in the U.S., Davis attracts hundreds of thousands of people during her visits to East Germany. But all this enthusiasm is deceptive ...

Katharina Warda is a Berlin-based writer, speaker and filmmaker. Her work reflects growing up as a black woman in the GDR and addresses racism, classism, punk, and the devaluation of East Germans.

TV Drama Vision 2026

TV Drama Vision is the leading Nordic conference and marketplace dedicated to drama series.

In 2026, TV Drama Vision celebrates its 20th anniversary under the headline One Transformation After Another, with two days of insights and networking at the Nordic region's key series market. Showcasing 50 series and 100+ speakers on stage, it offers a focused look at the stories, formats and business models shaping today's industry.

At a time when reality moves faster than fiction – budgets shrink, formats multiply, and AI reshapes the production chain – the need for resilient strategies has never been greater. TV Drama Vision explores tomorrow's strategies to co-production, platform-fluid IP, audience-first approaches, smarter budgeting, sustainable production, and the art of writing great stories.

This year's programme begins with exclusive pre-sessions on January 26, setting the stage for the main event January 27 – 28.

As always, TV Drama Vision brings together over 700 key industry delegates, including broadcasters, streamers, producers, financiers and creators from 35 countries, in the vibrant setting of cinema Draken and Hotel Draken.

TV Drama Vision moderators are Andrea Reuter, Marike Muselaers, Johanna Karppinen, Johanna Koljonen and Josefine Tengblad and Paolo Cicarelli.

TV Drama Vision is supported by the Region Västra Götaland, Creative Europe MEDIA, Nordisk Film & TV Fond, and Kulturrådet.
